Leah Howell

Lives and works in Eugene, OR

Leah Howell received her BFA in ceramics from the University of Colorado in 2005. She lives and works in Eugene, Oregon where she is a Graduate Teaching Fellow and and MFA candidate (Spring 2019) at the University of Oregon. Her ceramic sculpture and installations draw on the implicit value and utility of craft and the material history of ceramics. Additionally, ideas of labor-value and production are examined through the displacement of material expectations in domestic objects and decoration.
